Apphia Campbell: WOKE  (Friday 26 October, 8pm Tickets £12)
Welcome

Moving away from the long, hot summer brings us to the autumn season at Junction and once again, we have a packed few months of hand-picked shows for you. Although it’s hard to believe, we’ll mark our ninth birthday in November and while we have no specific plans for a party, we’re already beginning to think about what to do for the landmark tenth anniversary next year – your ideas welcome!

Kicking off the season will be a world first, the premiere of Junction’s latest newly commissioned family theatre piece. Created and presented by Markmark Productions, Wonders, Wonders, Wonders explores the life and times of Katterfelto, a near-forgotten showman and conjuror of the 18th century. He was particularly popular in Yorkshire and Lincolnshire and known to have performed in Selby and Beverley. Markmark are usually creators of street entertainment but are moving indoors with this new show, although they will also make fun things happen outside Junction earlier in the day.

The emphasis on new writing for the stage continues through the season. Hull-based Silent Uproar make their first visit with a super-happy musical about feeling sad, which has gathered top star ratings from across the country. Showcasing the talents of solo female writers and performers, we welcome back the stunning Apphia Campbell, who sold every seat for Black is the Color of My Voice, with her new show, WOKE. There’s a double bill of new work from Drunken Chorus and Miranda Prag before things get a little more traditional with Jane Eyre: An Autobiography, bringing Charlotte Brontë’s classic to life in another five star production.

Our family programme has new shows from tutti frutti, Lempen Puppets and Breaking Tradition, who mix high energy sword, clog and break dance with a story about getting lost inside a games console!

A special mention for a unique (and free) show-cum-exhibition from Ray Lee, whose Ethometric Museum of musical curiosities is open for just one public performance on 12 October. We wrap up the year panto-style again, with the latest from the inimitable TaleGate Theatre. Expect big hair, bigger frocks and a fire-breathing dragon. And that’s just the dame!

Don’t forget our busy workshop programme for young people re-starts in September and in October we will be auditioning for youngsters to take part in our Panto chorus – just call the box office for details.

We’re sure there’s something for everyone between now and Christmas and we look forward to welcoming you.

Markmark Productions: Wonders Wonders Wonders
Commissioned specially for Junction, Wonders, Wonders, Wonders, is the story of the first Master of Spin, Colonel Gustavus Katterfelto, who arrived in Hull in the 1700s and set about entertaining the masses. His shows were a mixture of spectacle and science; explanation and extravaganza; comedy, conjuring, drama and wonder, and inspired the great Houdini himself. Markmark revive his life story in a comedic drama about spin, spectacle and showmanship for the whole family, with circus, clowning, physical theatre, dance and music. Running time 1 hour. Suitable for ages 4+

Friday 28 September, 7pm
Tickets £10 (adult) £5 (child)

Breaking Tradition: QUEST
Breaking Tradition, the UK’s leading folk and hip hop dance company, come together with the award-winning folk powerhouse ‘The Demon Barbers’ to take you on an unforgettable adventure.

On the night before they move house, Kai’s sister disappears and it’s down to him to find her. But should he be looking in the real world? Or somewhere else… QUEST delves into an extraordinary computer game world, full of dazzling dance and stomping tunes. Suitable for 7-12 year olds and their families. Running time 90 mins including interval.

Ray Lee’s Ethometric Museum

Enter the Ethometric Museum and be transported into a parallel universe of strange technology, an Aladdin’s cave of exquisitely hand-crafted contraptions. Guided by the enigmatic Professor Lee, explore a world of sound generated by the spinning machines and dancing automata from a bygone age. The Ethometric Museum is an immersive theatrical journey into a world of whirling devices, pulsing drones and proper science. Running time 45 mins. Age 7+.

Saturday 13 October, 8pm
Tickets £10

Silent Uproar: A Super Happy Story (About Feeling Super Sad)

A hilarious cabaret musical about depression, that explains, sings and throws glitter about how it’s OK not to be OK.

Sally’s a happy person. She doesn’t let little things get her down and almost never cries. But she’s got an illness. It makes her feel like she isn’t the person she wants to be, but she doesn’t want anyone to know about it. Written by Olivier award winner Jon Brittain with music by Matthew Floyd Jones, it’s a joyful, buoyant, gleeful, slightly silly, sugar coated, unrelenting and completely super happy show! Except for the bits about depression.

Friday 26 October, 8pm
Tickets £12

Apphia Campbell: WOKE

From the creator of the hit show Black Is the Color of My Voice, comes a new story about the 20th century African-American experience. Set against a powerful soundtrack of original music and traditional gospel and blues sung live, two women 42 years apart, become involved in the struggle for civil rights. Both challenge the American justice system, become criminalised through political activism, and ultimately are faced with the same choice: stay and fight, or flee? Running time 1 hour with Q+A after the show.

“Campbell is the most powerful voice of this year’s fringe” - The Scotsman

Folk In The Bar

tutti frutti: Snow Queen

Kai and Gerda have been friends for as long as they can remember, until in a whirl of magic and deception, splinters of a magical broken mirror blow in the wind, freezing hearts and changing everything! As Kai is pulled under the spell of the powerful snow queen, Gerda sets off on a quest to save her friend and return life to normal. Can things ever be the same again?

Writer Mike Kenny sprinkles some tutti frutti magic over Hans Christian Andersen’s winter tale of friendship, loyalty and the dangers of the unknown. Suitable for children aged 3+ and their families. Running time 1 hour.

Saturday 27 October, 8pm
Tickets £10 advance (£12 on the door)

Double Bill;
Drunken Chorus: Love & Then
Lighthouses & Miranda Prag:
This is Just Who I Am

This double bill of hour long solo shows features two female performers linked by a shared exploration of finding your place in a confusing world.

Our old friends Drunken Chorus are back with Love and then Lighthouses, telling the tale of teenager Sheena. She loves Pulp, the ocean and indie discos but sometimes she feels lost at sea, alone in the darkness. Full of disco lights, smoke machines and beacons in the darkness, this is a show about teen-angst, 90s indie gigs and a journey through the pitch black Yorkshire night of an isolated soul, struggling to find their place in the world.

We also welcome Miranda Prag with This Is Just Who I Am. It’s a show about being yourself, and not having a clue what that even means. Sharply observed and disarmingly funny, this is an intimate, awkward and satirical portrait of the people we try to be when we don’t feel like ourselves and the stigma of mental illness. Both unashamedly nonsensical and excruciatingly honest, Miranda creates a new identity live on stage, using humour, song and razor sharp observation.
Thursday 15 November, 2pm
Tickets £8

Songs of the Great War

Commemorating the hundredth anniversary of the Great War, musicians Chris Green and Sophie Matthews use music and song to tell the story of ‘The War to End All Wars’.

With a mixture of soldiers’ songs, music hall numbers, war poems set to new music and original compositions, the show does not flinch from the full horror of the First World War but also celebrates the courage and humour of the Tommies under fire and those they left behind. Featuring wartime classics such as ‘Pack Up Your Troubles’ and ‘Tipperary’, this is a moving tribute to the fallen and a fitting reminder of their sacrifice.

Saturday 17 November, 8pm
Tickets £14

Chantel McGregor

Blues guitar prodigy, Chantel McGregor, makes a welcome return appearance, with her rock-blues for the modern age. Infusing her new material with progressive influences, Chantel continues her gradual transition from conventional Blues to a harder, bigger and bolder rock sound. Voted Guitarist of the Year at the 2014 British Blues Awards, Chantel has been described as ‘channelling the ghost of Hendrix through her fingers’ and has developed a loyal following in the blues scene.

Support from young performers from Junction’s School of Rock.

Friday 23 November, 8pm
Tickets £12

Dyad Productions:
Jane Eyre – An Autobiography

Struggling to think, live and love beyond the stifling expectations of duty, class and convention, governess Jane Eyre and Master Edward Rochester take a dark journey towards liberation. Told through the eyes of Jane, English literature’s most celebrated autobiographical novel shocked the Victorians. Charlotte Brontë’s subversion of fairy-tale romance is distilled for a solo stage performance, in this intimate study of love’s realities. Running time 90 minutes, no interval.
